COMMITTEE TO PROTEST

Association Takes Drastic Action to Block Legislation to Enlarge Present Powers.

Decisive action was taken by the Northeast Washington Citizens' As-sociation last night by the adoption of a plan to block the District Commisners' move to get Congress to invest them with discretionary powers in the matter of narrowing and widening streets to suit what they regard as public convenience. Recently, Dr. L. D. Walter, as the association's representative, succeeded in getting the Court of Appeals to issue an injunction to prevent the Commissioners from narrow-ing G street northwest. Last night he introduced a resolution to appoint a committee of five to appear before the subcommittee of the District Appropriations Committee to protest against any legislation looking to enlarge the Com-missioners' powers in the matter of street supervision, and it was passed unanimously. President Evan H. Tucker will appoint this committee later in the week, and they will be instructed to press their contention vigorously before the subcommittee.

its verdict by withdrawing the injunction. It was the association's duty, he said, to prevent the Commissioners getting from Congress any legislation which would give them power to dictate the width of streets, notwithstanding protests by citizens.

Secretary Sowerbutts revived the recent agitation over the question of better car service in the city by a resolution to investigate into the action of a general committee appointed from members of various citizens' associations throughout the city at a big mass meeting held some time ago at the Masonic Temple. This committee was appointed, he stated, to petition the car companies for better schedules, particularly into the suburbs, and it was a matter of interest as to what the committee had accomplished.

the car service immediately following the mass meeting, but that lately the car companies have lapsed into their indifference of public needs, and the service, notably on the Washington Electric Railway lines, was as bad as ever.

Dr. L. D. Walter recommended that temporary sidewalks be laid under the H street subway to insure safety to pedestrians. The matter will be taken up with the Commissioners at once.

A resolution of regret at the death of J. W. Babson, late president of the East Washington Citizens' Association, was adopted.
